From Mountaintop to Candyland

When a fairy found a diary,
The diary wondered, was this real?
It asked the fairy to make that clear,
The fairy lost its grip,
The diary went for a trip.

Starting from the mountain top,
Falling where the rabbits hop,
Finally fell in a muddy puddle,
Getting more and more trouble.

With picky-picky pebble,
On the green grassy land,
Eventually reached candy land,
It was not hard to believe.

Taking out its handkerchief,
The diary was tired of loitering,
Tried to eat candies around,
But the candies were not real,
The diary thought and yandere sound,

And woke up under a big tree,
She said "Thank god, I am free"
It was just a dream.
She laughed on the gleam.

Life

Life is a book
which let us cook,
It is the Chess,
For all moves that trains .
It is the game,
that plays many fame,
It has that mirror,
which shows something in the flowing water.
Life is the learning,
Which let us know more than what we do for earning.
That is how life works,
which creates all nooks and cons.
The life teaches process,
Which leads to success.
It gives tough path to drive,
Which let us know how to save and strive.
It is an illusion,
Which creates confusion.
And some make the life!!!
And some break the life!!!

Independence Day

India gained its freedom approximately 78 years ago. Even today, contemplating those extraordinary individuals – Udham Singh, Bhagat Singh, Subhash Chandra Bose, and women like Rani Laxmi Bai and Sarojini Naidu, among countless others – sends shivers down my spine. Their honesty, truthfulness, courage, sacrifice, and ideals inspire an endless sense of patriotism. I'm certain everyone feels this, but do they truly realize it?

Sadly, many people today seem to have forgotten the sacrifices of our freedom fighters. A lack of understanding of their morals and values has led to a society characterized by unethical behaviour. It's disheartening to see that after witnessing the struggles of our ancestors, we have become increasingly lazy, demanding, and ungrateful. Dishonesty and abuse are prevalent problems that need to be addressed.

We must change ourselves to align with the moral and ethical principles that guided our ancestors. Let us all become the Indians our forefathers fought for centuries to create. Let's be the honest, grateful, happy, truthful, and active citizens that they envisioned.

Jai Hind!

I am a Soldier

I came from the borders of Kashmir and Amirsar
India's my home, I hold her dear.
To protect her, I gave my life.
A coward's aim, ended my strife.

Family wept, their hearts in pain.
I'll rise again, till peace I gain.
Though gone from earth, my spirit's strong.
In every heart, my memory's long.

For India's peace, I'll ever fight,
A soldier's soul, burning bright.

A soldier I was, a soldier I'll be,
Though gone from earth, my soul's aflame,
Forever guarding India's name.
